A RECORD OF DEATHS.

Those Who Have Gone to Join the Great Majority.

SAD HEARTS IN MANY HOMES

Samuel Brugger, Miss Jennie Stover and Mrs. Lydia Yeager Among the Number Called.

SKETCHES OF DEPARTED ONES

On Saturday afternoon about 2 o'clock the angel of death entered the Stover home on North Water street and took hence the spirit of Miss Jennie Stover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fall Stover. Deceased had been a patient sufferer from that dread scourge of our northern clime, consumption for over a year and for the past eight weeks had been bedfast. During all this time she was carefully watched and nursed by a loving mother whose care and devotion were a beautiful example of a mother's love for her offspring. Nothing was to much for her to do for the sufferer.

The deceased was born in Unionville and was 26 years old the 28th of last May. She was educated in the schools of this city and was a faithful member of the Methodist church. For several years she was in the employ of H. A. Gripp, the Tyrone portrait artist.

She is survived by her parents and the following brothers and sisters, Nora, Curtis, Alice, Cameron, Scott and John.

Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock there were short funeral services at the house conducted by her pastor, Rev. John A Wood after which the remains were taken to the Methodist church at Unionville where the services proper were held.

The large edifice was crowded with sorrowing friends all anxious to pay a last loving tribute to the memory of the departed.

Rev. John A. Wood, pastor of the Methodist church of Bellefonte spoke of the noble life the young lady led and how on her death bed, she rejoiced in the faith in which she lived and believed. He was assisted in the services by Rev. Wharton, of Milesburg. The floral offerings were quite profuse and beautiful.

The honorary pall-bearers were Miss Lide Rose, Mrs. Joseph Twitmire, Miss Myrtle Longacre, Miss Mary Thompson, Miss Mary Nolan and Miss Viola Robb.

The casket bearers were Messrs. Joseph Twitmire, Morris Otto, Harry Otto, Roger T. Bayard, Orrie Kline and Oliver Hazel.

Interment was made in the Upper Union cemetery at Unionville.

DEATH OF GEORGE P. NORRIS.

George P. Norris, formerly of this county but late of Pittsburg met with an accident which resulted in his death Saturday morning at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Norris was a carpenter and while at work on a building one of the scaffolding planks broke and he was precipitated to the ground, a distance of thirty feet. His left leg was broken and his spine so badly injured that death resulted.

The deceased was 48 years of age and leaves his wife and three children to mourn their great loss. At the time of the accident Mrs. Norris was on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Maughamer, of Hollidaysburg, and did not get to Pittsburg until after his death. He also leaves three brothers and five sisters: D. B., and J. W., of Juniata; Henry Y., of Buffalo Run, Centre county; Mrs. Margaret Marks, Mrs. Susan Boyles, Mrs. Alice Ray, of Juniata; Mrs. Jane E. Brotherton, of Peasant Valley, and Mrs Harriet Pennington, of State College. Mr. Norris was much liked by all who knew him and his many friends and acquaintances will be sorry to learn of his death.

Loyd Rimert, of Howard, and Mary R., at home. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in the Union cemetery.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

An Eagleville Lady United in Marriage at Capt. Quigley's Home.

At high noon Sept. 23 a pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Captain James A. Quigley in Eagleville, when Mrs. Quigley's sister Miss Grace Delinda White was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Wilbur Ross of Peoria, Ill. Rev. Lewis F. Brown pastor of the Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony. Miss Catherine Quigley, niece of the bride, and Miss Mary Horne of Yonkers, N. Y., acted as flower girls and carried baskets of white asters. George S. Garth of Mill Hall and George F. Hess of Beech Creek were ushers. Mendelsohn's wedding march was rendered on the piano by Miss Mary E. Quigley. The bride was married in a lovely traveling gown of dark blue broadcloth.

After the ceremony a delicious wedding breakfast was served, the guests being seated at small tables. The bridal table was beautifully decorated with Madera vine and pink asters and lighted with candles. The color scheme was pink and green. In the west parlor where the ceremony was performed, the decorations were very pretty. The bridal party stood under an arch of greens in a receding window which was banked with palms and evergreens. The gifts to the bride were handsome.

The bride was a resident of Beech Creek until two years ago, since which time she has made her home with Mrs. Quigley, and is a highly respected young woman. The groom was formerly of Mill Hall. He is now located in Peoria where he holds a responsible position in a department store and is a man of fine character. They will take up their residence in a home already furnished.

The happy pair left on the afternoon train for Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Lafayette, Indiana, reaching Peoria in 10 days. They were given a very cheerful send-off by their friends.

Fifty invited guests enjoyed the happy occasion. Those present from a distance were: Mrs. William D. Horne and children of Yonkers, N. Y.; J. Edwin Quigley and wife, Wilkensburg; Mrs. Henry C. Quigley, Bellefonte; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hayes, Watsontown; Mr. and Mrs. Abbott B. Garth, Mrs. Anna Garth, Miss Bess Garth, G. S. Garth, Mill Hall; Dean H. Curwensville Failed.

D. F. Dolan, special agent of the rural free delivery system, was in Curwensville recently looking after the institution of rural routes from that place. After a careful examination and going over the route Mr. Dolan was compelled to refuse recommendation for free delivery. The reason given for this refusal was that the route should cover 20 miles and should serve 100 families or more. The route mapped out measured only 14 miles and the number of families did not exceed 64.—Public Spirit

—The many friends in Bellefonte of Mrs. H. C. Pardoe, wife of Rev. Hiles C. Pardoe, 405 Fifth avenue, Altoona, will be grieved to learn that she was stricken with paralysis Tuesday afternoon while standing on the porch of a neighbor. Mrs. Pardoe fell backward, striking her head upon a stone step, inflicting an ugly wound. The attack was not pronounced a very serious one and she is getting along as well as can be expected.

THE SITUATION IS GRAVE!

THE POLICE FORCE DEMORALIZED

Frenzied Rioters Secured Possession of the Ground Floor of the Office Building of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company.

BARS IN THE PLACE ARE ALL CLOSED

OTTAWA, Ont., September 29.—A request has been made to the minister of militia to send troops to the "Soo" to suppress riots there. The application, however, was irregular and the minister replied that as soon as an application was made in the regular way by the municipality, it would be attended to at once.

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., September 29.—To-night the situation in the Canadian "Soo," which has been the scene of serious rioting by the discharged employes of the Consolidated Lake Superior company all day, is very grave. No reinforcements of militia have arrived from outside and the only defense against the mob, which grows hourly, is a more or less demoralized police department and a small company of militiamen. An assault upon the office building by the mob early Monday before the arrival on the ground of the troops was successful and a mass of frenzied rioters secured possession of the ground floor of the building, destroying everything movable that came in their path. A crowd of the office staff, with drawn revolvers, prevented their gaining access to the upper floors of the building. Every window and door in the building is smashed in. The arrival of the troops on the grounds, armed with ball cartridges, about 2 o'clock served to restore some semblance of order. The rioters then contented themselves with throwing stones at the building and hurling invectives at the soldiers, who established a "dead line" and prevented any approach toward the building by any of the rioters. The greatest number of the mob are of Italians, Finns, Norwegians and Frenchmen, the latter, perhaps, the hardest of all to handle. All had been drinking more or less, although the bars this afternoon finally obeyed the order to close up. The mob is one that cannot be reasoned with and the man they seem most anxious to get at is Mr. Coyne, the assistant manager, who, in the absence of Mr. Shields, is in charge of the works Mr. Coyne discreetly kept out of sight all day.

Late this afternoon the leaders of the mob held a conference and demanded that the company feed the men until the money for their wages is forthcoming. In order to appease the crowd this demand was granted and the men have taken possession of the white house, a large boarding house operated by the company. Provisions are being sent there to feed them.

A mass meeting of the men held last night in the "white house." the big boarding house of the company which has been turned over to the men, was unexpectedly quiet and orderly. An attempt was made to allay the passions of the men by an offer made by the Brotherhood of Woodsmen, an organization maintained among the lumbermen, to furnish an attorney free of charge to collect all pay checks left in his hands. The meeting broke up without any particular confusion or disorder. About 10.30 an alarm of fire was turned in from the pulp mills and the companies responded but no blaze could be discovered. The turning in of the alarm was evidently the work of the rough element which has gathered in large proportions to help along the work of disorder.

An effort was made late Monday to get a body of the rioters to cross the river to the American side and put the power house and street railway out of commission, but it was not successful. On account of this rumor the local company of state troops was mobilized at the armory and some extra police were put on duty. A battalion of regulars from Toronto, the Kings Grenadiers, are expected to arrive at 7 o'clock this morning and their coming is awaited with feverish impatience. Another company of militia from Sudbury is expected by midnight.

A telegram was received last night from Premier Ross, of Ontario, which has produced a reassuring effect on the affairs of the Canadian Soo. The message reads:

"The government will in every way possible protect the interests of the workingmen in the various industries, main and subsidiary, of the Consolidated Lake Superior company, withholding subsidies and in other ways if necessary insists on the settlement of all claims for wages, prior to everything else."

RE-UNION AT PENN CAVE.

The Shaffer and Hazel Families Hold Basket Picnic.

The Shaffer-Hazel reunion was held at Penn Cave Sept. 23. The day was a delightful one, and about 150 members of these families with some visiting friends were present. The forenoon was spent in social greetings and chat, and in making preparations for dinner. It being a basket affair cloths were soon spread throughout the park, and the good wives and pretty daughters began to set out good things they had prepared in abundance for the occasion. And it was a feast fit for princes. The dinner hour being over all assembled in the pavilion, and the meeting was organized as follows:

The meeting was called to order by Michael Shaffer, Esq., of Potter, and the following organization effected: Chairman—Benj. F. Shaffer, of Nittany, who responded with a brief and appropriate address; secretary—A. J. Hazel, of Madisonburg; treasurer—U. S. Shaffer, of Madisonburg.

The above officers chosen were declared the permanent organization for the ensuing year.

Prof. C. L. Gramley was then introduced and spoke at length giving data of the ancestry of Shaffers and Hazels.

Senator Heinle followed in a deserved eulogy of the Shaffers and Hazels, their usefulness, and probity of character from the earliest settler to the present day.

Fred Kurtz, of Bellefonte, was next introduced and spoke briefly of these families of noble pioneers.

Ammon Shaffer was called upon and made some fitting remarks.

With a vote of thanks to the speakers the meeting adjourned for social intercourse. The re-union was a success in every respect and enjoyed by all present.

TERRIBLY BURNED.

Mrs. William Irwin of Pleasant Gap Has a Narrow Escape.

Mrs. William Irwin, of Pleasant Gap, had a narrow escape from a horrible death a week ago Friday. As it is her face and arms were terribly burned from falling across a red-hot stove.

Mrs. Irwin and her husband attended the Granger's picnic at Centre Hall on Thursday and there purchased some peanuts which she ate and which are believed to have poisoned her. Friday morning while cooking she suddenly took a fit and fell across the hot stove. Her little daughter seeing her predicament ran screaming to the neighbors who hastened to her assistance.

She was removed from the stove and two doctors from Centre Hall were summoned. It was found that her face and arms were in an awful condition and she remained unconscious for almost two hours. For awhile her life was despaired of but we are glad to say she is now recovering.

Their vessel sails March 8.

—Rev. George T. Gunter, of Union City, Indiana, has accepted the unanimous call to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church of Tyrone and expects to enter upon the work in his new field about November 1. He is a native of Southern Indiana, 34 years of age and a graduate of Hanover College.

—It perhaps cannot be too often repeated that the school law requires the regular attendance of all children between the age of eight and sixteen years unless excused on account of illness; provided, however, that children between the ages of thirteen and sixteen years may be excused from attendance if regularly employed at some useful labor and able to read and write English intelligently.

The annual Centre County Fair of 1903 will be held on the County Fair grounds next week beginning Oct. 6. This Fair is a county institution; it was established in the interest of agriculture live stock, dairy husbandry, and the varied industries of the county and town and for the benefit of all the people. There is not a home, farm, factory or commercial enterprise in the county, that is not benefitted either directly or indirectly thereby. It will stimulate a spirit of improvement in farming methods and encourage further development of the resources of the county. The ladies of the town, by organized effort, are doing every thing in their power to make the different departments in Main Ex., building a great deal more interesting than any year heretofore. They therefore kindly ask you to co-operate with them children as well as older persons, by making as many exhibits as possible in the different departments. The several departments most interesting to ladies and children, are as follows: Culinary Department, Ornamental Needle work, Textile, Youth's Department, and aged lady's dept. The latter will no doubt be quite interesting, as the ladies in charge are sparing no effort in trying to make it the most attractive of all departments. They hope to have a "Department of Antiquity" also in which antique articles and relics may be displayed. The committee in charge kindly ask you to lay aside all prejudice, all skepticism and unfavorable comment, and all join hands in the effort to build up a Fair which shall be worthy of the county and a source of pride and gratification to its people.

A car load of the finest western cattle will be on exhibition at the fair and on the last day Friday they will be offered for sale.

The race track is in excellent condition and there will be some fine racing during the week.

Special match racing has been arranged and competition between horses driven by their owners will be a feature.

The free attractions before the grand stand will be of the highest order. The management has engaged, at large expense, the services of prominent performers in most novel and startling acts. Among other things each day the spectators will see the thrilling free exhibition known as a "High Dive" from the top of a perpendicular ladder at least 75 feet high into a tank containing 5 feet of water, and instead of diving forward, head fore most, the diver will start from his high perch with a back somersault in the air.

Amusement of every description will be found on the ground. No one can afford to miss the great Centre County Fair.

The Fair Commissioners will have this year a new department among the exhibits devoted entirely to childrens work. The committee will be glad to have contributions from girls and boys under fourteen both for exhibition and for competition for premiums. It is necessary only 50 to enter for competition THOUGH upwards of 25 cts each, Here is a good chance for boys or girls who have talent in some special line to win premiums.

Quiet Wedding at Martha.

A pretty home wedding was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Miles, near Martha, on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The contracting parties were Mr. Geo. O. Benner, one of the leading and best known business men of Centre Hall, and Miss Margaret J. Miles, well known as one of Centre county's most charming and capable young women.

During the strains of the wedding march, as played by Mrs. Edith McKelvey of Port Matilda, the bridal party entered the parlor and were met there by Rev. A. C. Lathrop, who performed the ceremony that joined bride and groom in the bonds of Holy Matrimony.

The bride was attired in a beautiful blue silk trimmed with medallions. The groom wore the conventional wedding suit. The bridesmaids were Miss Breeze Benner, a sister of the groom, and Miss Zenoira Miles. They were gowned in pretty Persian lawn dresses and carried white Crysanthemum flowers. The groomsmen were Messrs. John B. Miles, a brother of the bride, and Judson A. Williams

The congratulations which followed the ceremony were most heartily given. Next came the wedding supper which was indeed a feast of delicacies and good things and to which all did ample justice. The presents brought were beautiful, useful and valuable.

Mr. and Mrs. Benner left on the evening train amid showers of rice for Lock Haven and Eastern cities. They will be at home to their friends at Centre Hall in about two weeks.

Death of Samuel Brugger.

We are indebted to our Unionville correspondent for the following account of the death of Samuel Brugger.

This community was shocked on Monday to hear of the death of one of its best citizens in the person of Samuel Brugger who has been a resident of this borough since a young man. He was well known over a great part of Pennsylvania as he was a surveyor and did a great deal of work throughout different parts of the state. He was a very useful citizen, and will be greatly missed by his neighbors and friends. He leaves to mourn their loss his wife who was Margaret Peters and the following children, Walter of Clearfield; Mrs. W. F. Becker, of Harrisburg; Mrs. J. C. Rumberger of Bellefonte; Joseph who farms at home John, a traveling salesman for Heinz & Co. Lizzie at home.

He was a lover of nature and had a large collection of different specimens which he had gathered in different parts of the country.

He took great pride in his farms of which he was the owner of two. He also took great pride in cultivating fruit and having his orchards yield their best.

He had some very fine specimens of his fruit at the Centre County Fair last fall.

He had not been as well as usual for some time and had been troubled with a weak heart for a number of years. Last week he took a trip to Clearfield to see a physician. He returned home Thursday evening, with a severe cold, which developed in double pneumonia but we understand his attending physician Dr. E. A. Russell had the pneumonia some what checked when his heart weakened and he passed away on Monday afternoon at 4:30.

We sympathize greatly with his family in their bereavement and point them to the great Comforter who was a "man of sorrow and acquainted with grief". He was a faithful member of the M. E. Church, and was a regular attendant at the class meeting where he will be greatly missed. May we follow his example. He was aged about 70 years. Interment this afternoon in the Upper Union Cemetery.

Dedication Services.

On Sunday, October 4, the new Methodist church at Oak Grove will be dedicated. Rev. F. M. Boggs of Howard will occupy the pulpit on Saturday evening at 7.30 o'clock. Dr. E. J. Gray of the Williamsport minary will preach on Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock, and Rev. Boggs will preach in the evening. The services will be conducted by Rev. Whitely, the pastor in charge.

An Artist of Rare Talent.

Bellefonte is the proud possessor of a young man, or only a boy, who has shown himself to be an artist with rare talent. His paintings are something marvelous and beautiful, and show rich taste in the blending of colors. Milliken McGarvey is the name of our young artist. He is a brother of Edward McGarvey the electrical genius. We wish these boys all kinds of success in their work.

A NEW IDEA

And the Interesting Story of Its Development

PROBABLY there are not a hundred persons in the United States who are familiar with the interesting history of the development of the system which has come to be designated as the "Battle Creek Idea," though no longer represented in Battle Creek alone, branches having sprung up in many places, while a knowledge of the principles of this remarkable system has become quite widely diffused throughout the civilized world.

The "Battle Creek Idea" is not a fad nor a mushroom growth. It is a scientific system which traces the main roots of its origin far back into the centuries. It is not the product of a single brain, but of hundreds and thousands of tireless workers and thinkers who have garnered the choicest fruits of generations of experience and have collated the results of centuries of scientific research.

A volume might be filled with the interesting story of the development of this wonderful work which has recently been made conspicuous by the burning of the main buildings of the Battle Creek Sanitarium last year and the recent dedication of the magnificent new building which has been erected to take the place of the burned structures, but we have room only for a few choice bits of this interesting history.

The "Battle Creek Idea" In Ancient Greece.

Twenty-four centuries ago there lived in Greece a man whose master mind recognized great truths and formulated mighty principles, the influence of which has grown with the lapse of time until today their importance is universally recognized. This man, Pythagoras, numbered among his disciples such men of genius as Socrates and Plato. It was he who first conceived the idea of the rotundity of the earth and of its revolution about the sun.

The First Health Community.

Pythagoras, this greatest of Grecian philosophers, established a health colony which he called Crotona. There he gathered about him hundreds of disciples to whom he taught the simple rules of life which he himself followed. These comprised abstinence from all unwholesome foods, especially meats, for Pythagoras considered the slaughter of animals as sacrilege. There were no slaughter houses or butcher shops in Crotona. No roasts, spareribs, beefsteaks or corpses of any kind ever appeared upon the table of a Pythagorian. Temperance in all things, an active, out of door life, simple dress, purity and uprightness in conduct were strictly enjoined by this prophet of a new truth, for the decadence of Greece had already begun. Unfortunately the doctrines of Pythagoras were little appreciated. The members of his health colony were massacred by their ignorant and degenerate countrymen, but his noble philosophy survived.

Plutarch, the famous biographer; Seneca, the noble old Roman; the Latin poet Ovid and many of the early church fathers accepted and actively promulgated the teachings of Pythagoras, as many moderns have done. Byron, during the better portions of his life and when doing the literary work which made him famous, strictly followed "the simple life" in diet and other respects. In writing to his publisher he once remarked, "I stick to Pythagoras." Sheller, Goldsmith and other famous English poets also accepted the teachings of Pythagoras, which are at the present time taught and practiced in the strictest manner by the famous Russian writer and reformer, Count Leo Tolstoi.

"The Brook Farm Experiment."

Half a century ago there gathered on a little farm not far from New Haven, Conn., the most remarkable coterie of men and women who have ever been associated in any community in modern times. George Ripley, the most famous Unitarian minister of New England at that period, was the founder of the community. The practical realization of the Pythagorian philosophy was the central idea of the Brook Farm experiment. Among the 140 members of the community, most of whom afterward became eminent in various professions and callings, were Emerson, the philosopher; Bronson Alcott, the transcendentalist; Thoreau, the interpreter of nature; Margaret Fuller, the educational reformer; Charles Dana, the founder of the New York Sun, and Hawthorne, one of the greatest literary lights of the century. The Brook Farm experiment failed for lack of financial management, but the ideals survived.

The Wonderful Discovery of a Silesian Peasant.

A little less than 100 years ago a fourteen-year-old peasant boy who was barely able to read and had not been taught to write, while engaged in cutting wood on a mountain near his home, observed a wounded deer bathing its injured leg in one of the numerous springs which abound in that particular region. Day after day the deer came and bathed the damaged parts until entirely healed of its injury. Priessnitz soon after suffered a severe accident from which the physicians who were consulted declared he could not recover. He tried the deer's remedy, applying water by means of wet cloths placed over the injured parts, and in a few weeks was quite restored to health. He induced others to try his remedy and invented many different way of applying water by means of baths, douches, packs, compresses and various other methods. Before he was twenty he had become famous. During the first half of the last century the little village of Graefenberg, where he lived, was thronged with invalids from all over the world, including many physicians and notable people of high station, government officials, princes, lords, barons, marquises, who sought relief by the employment of water scientifically applied by attendants acting under the supervision of this prophet of a new method in therapeutics.

Institutions known as "water cures" rapidly sprang up in France, Germany, England and America, and for twenty-five or thirty years prospered greatly. Failure came at last because of a lack of knowledge of scientific principles and the employment of crude and empirical methods.

The Natural Method of Cure.

The "water cure" was the forerunner of something better. It embodied the great principle that "nature heals." Something more than thirty years ago a small group of men organized in Battle Creek a work which later grew into what is now known as the Battle Creek Sanitarium. The principles recognized by Pythagoras and those who have followed his teachings during the last 2,000 years or more were embodied in this movement, together with others wrought out by scientific investigators and observers. The work prospered from the start, and soon after its incorporation was placed on a purely philanthropic basis, becoming self supporting charitable institution, and has since remained as such.

The "Battle Creek Idea."

In 1876 the enterprise came to be known as the Battle Creek Sanitarium. The scope was enlarged so as to include not only hydrotherapy, or water applications, the Swedish system of gymnastics for both the sick and well and various means for the application of light and for the employment of all known natural curative agents.

Later, research laboratories were added for studying cases of disease and conducting original researches for the purpose of perfecting methods and developing improvements in dietetics and all that pertains to the preservation of health and the cure of disease.

A Mecca For the Sick.

Gradually, as a result of these observations and researches, an elaborate and carefully perfected system, based upon sound scientific principles, was developed and became widely known as the "Battle Creek Method" or the "Battle Creek Idea." Battle Creek thus became a Mecca for health seekers, who thronged the place in increasing numbers summer and winter until the number of visitors reached an aggregate of more than 50,000, with an annual total of 6,000 or 7,000.

A Disastrous Fire.

Then came the fire of Feb. 18, 1902, which destroyed the two main buildings of the institution and started a wave of sympathy which spread throughout the whole civilized world. The work was not extinguished by the fire, however, and the completion of a better building at an expense of about $500,000 marked a new era in medical progress, presenting to the world what may be justly regarded as a model sanitarium structure. Here for the first time were gathered together in one place and under one management appliances for the application of all known rational and natural curative agencies, the final perfection of which is now embodied in the great new structure which was dedicated with imposing ceremonies on the 31st day of May of the present year in the presence of many thousands of persons. A formal invitation was sent by the governor of the state acting with other prominent state officials to all leading state and national officials in the United States. Letters and telegrams expressing congratulation and regret at inability to attend were received from the president of the United States, two members of his cabinet, many governors of states, senators and members of congress and other officials in all parts of the country.

A Magnificent Temple of Health.

Some idea of the splendid institution which was thus publicly set apart to the service of God and humanity may be gained from the following brief description: The building is over 550 feet, or more than a tenth of a mile, in length and seven stories in height, including the basement. There are three large four story buildings connected with the main building by a circular corridor. The length of these added to that of the main part makes the aggregate length of the building nearly a quarter of a mile. The building is thoroughly fireproof, the construction being of brick, stone, iron and cement. The floors are of artificial stone covered with marble mosaic. The total floor space is over seven acres. There are five elevators. The arrangements for baths are most elaborate, as also applications of electricity, light, heat and all physiological or natural methods in addition to ordinary medical and surgical means.

The Battle Creek Sanitarium is well known and recognized by the medical profession everywhere throughout the civilized world. "The Battle Creek Idea" and the Battle Creek institution have always been kept free from fads and quackish or empirical methods. The work of the institution is thoroughly scientific. It is strictly unsectarian and undenominational, being simply a liberal Christian enterprise. All the doctors, nurses and managers connected with the institution are persons who have devoted their lives to missionary and philanthropic work and who are full of enthusiasm for the promotion of the principles of simple, natural living and the employment of natural methods in the cure of disease as well as in the maintenance of health.

City Medical Missions.

The great training school for missionary nurses sends out each year a little army of trained men and women filled with zeal and enthusiasm to preach the doctrine of simple natural living and to act the part of Good Samaritans wherever there is found any one in need of the skilled service which they are prepared to render to rich and poor.

Medical Missions have been established in Chicago and in various other cities in different parts of the world.

Branch establishments, conducted by physicians and nurses trained at the central institution, are located in many parts of the United States and in foreign countries. Numerous unauthorized and unreliable concerns professing to represent the same methods and ideas have sprung up in the vicinity of Battle Creek and elsewhere, as happens to every successful and meritorious enterprise. The authorized branches are located at the following places in the United States:

St. Helena, Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco, Cal.; Boulder and Colorado Springs, Colo.; College View, Lincoln, Neb.; Melrose, Boston, Mass.; Portland, Ore.; Spokane, Seattle and Tacoma, Wash.; Des Moines, Ia.; Chicago and Moline, Ill.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Madison, Wis.; Graysville and Nashville, Tenn.; Atlanta, Ga.; Detroit, Jackson and Grand Rapids, Mich.; Keene, Tex.

Institutions in which the "Battle Creek Idea" is represented are located as follows in foreign countries:

Caterham, England; Basle, Switzerland; Skodsborg and Frederikshavn, Denmark; Christiania and Orebro, Sweden; Friedensau, Germany; Guadalajara, Mexico; Bergen, Norway; Calcutta, India; Sydney and Cooranbong, N. S. W., Australia; Christchurch, N. Z.; Kingsview, S. A.; Cairo, Egypt;

Catarrh

Is a constitutional disease.

It originates in a scrofulous condition of the blood and depends on that condition.

It often causes headache and dizziness, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, affects the vocal organs and disturbs the stomach.

It is always radically and permanently cured by the blood-purifying, alterative and tonic action of Dashing, Roystering Petruchio.

Manager Garman has given evidence of his desire to please the best class of theatre-goers in this city by booking Charles B. Hanford in the scenic revival of "The Taming of the Shrew," which will be seen at the opera house on Tuesday evening October 6.

This play is regarded by authorities as the most amusing of Shakespeare's comedies. There is no modern farce which can equal it in respect to genuine fun. Nearly every line in the play conceals a laugh and every situation is a mine of merriment. As the dashing, roystering Petruchio Mr. Hanford has scored, it is stated, the most conspicuous success of his career. The role of Katherine will be portrayed by Miss Marie Drofnah.

A Contractor Commits Suicide.

A man named Kane, a contractor engaged in the construction of the Curwensville and Bower railroad, committed suicide at the camp at Lumber City Saturday by shooting himself with a revolver.

The man had been drinking some of late, but there had been nothing in his actions to lead to the belief that he contemplated self-destruction. It is stated on the best of authority that his financial affairs are in good shape and that there was no motive for the crime in that direction.

Death quickly following the firing of the shot.

Kane had a family in Williamsport and to that place the remains were shipped after the tragedy.

Both teams will be at their best and those who witness the struggle between them will be well entertained. "Yes, said Johnnie, "but I know something about my father."

NOW PACING HERO.

Prince Alert Smashed All Records by Giving a Mile in 1:57 Flats

TRACK AND WEATHER FINE

The Mile Was Made Without a Break or a Tremor Amid the Shouting of Thousands.

DAN PATCH'S FAILS AT COLUMBUS

NEW YORK, September 24.—Prince Alert, the pacing hero of a hundred races and the champion of a score of half-mile tracks, went against the world's pacing record of 1:59, held by Dan Patch, and beat it most decisively at the Empire City track Tuesday. It was the first day of the autumn meeting of the Empire City Trotting club and, in addition to a strong card of four races, Prince Alert was billed for what looked like the impossible feat of beating the record. But Prince Alert had recently won the half-mile track championship in 2:03¼, which had been won only the week before by Dan Patch in 2:04 and good judges were sanguine.

The weather and track was perfect and the wind which was high early in the day kindly subsided so that all the conditions were favorable. Mart Demarest, the trainer and driver of the Prince, on account of overweight, decided to get John Curry to drive, and Demarest drove the thoroughbred speedmaker in front with the windshield sulky. At the third time the starter gave the word, and pacing like a beautiful piece of machinery, Prince Alert shot away to the quarter pole in .29½, as he got into the back stretch he increased his speed and was at the half in .58. Then the crowd realized that they were witnessing the fastest mile of the century and cheers and shouts of "come on" came from grandstand and lawn. Without a break or a tremor, he flashed by the three-quarter pole in 1.26½ and without any urging came on with a most superb burst of speed, crossing the wire in 1.57

In the regular programme, Nonamie won the 2.08 pace, best time 2.06½. Swift won the 2.08 trot, best time 2.07. The 2.25 pace went to Susie G, best time 2.14½ and Dark Secret took the 2.20 trot. Best time 2.13¼

To Eat.

Sugared mint leaves are a piquant sweet and look well on a dainty glass dish.

Lemon icing is a hot weather preference for those who can't forego cake.

Well people should not "diet." It is a pity to work out crank ideas on the stomach.

If a certain fruit or vegetable disagrees with one, there's only to cut it out. Some prefer to suffer and talk about it.

It seems a mistake to cut cantaloupes into cubes just for the pleasure of stowing them away in a basket cut from the rind.

Always use a wooden spoon and fork for mixing salad. Some also insist upon a wooden bowl.

A dessert salad of fruits is delicious, especially on a very hot day.

Simple dishes are almost invariably more palatable in the long run than over elaborate ones.

Correctly cooked vegetables are among the most delicious things we have to eat at this season.

CONSUMPTION THREATENED.

"I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had consumption," says C. Unger, 211 Maple St., Champaign, Ill. "I tried a great many remedies and I was under the care of physicians for several months. I used one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar.nott since." C. M. Parrish.

How to Make Shoes Wear.

Considerable difference will be found in the wearing qualities of two pairs of shoes of the same quality and make worn by different persons. No shoes worn continuously in the house and outdoors will give as much wear as a pair of shoes worn one day and then left to rest a day. It saves money to wear cheap house shoes within doors and let the shoes worn outdoors rest and get back into shape while the owner is within doors.

Keep an old pair of shoes to wear under rubbers. The prespiration of the feet which India rubber excites ruins good leather. Select strong calfskin and keep it well oiled in winter for outdoor use.

Low shoes are better for house wear, because they give the foot a chance to be ventilated as the hand is not afflicted as the foot so often is with corns, callous places and chilblains. This is because it is continuously exposed to the air. Even when kid gloves are worn they do not compress the hand so much as the average boot does the foot, and they are not worn continuously, as a boot is.

THE PLEASURE OF EATING.

Persons suffering from indigestion, dyspepsia or other stomach trouble will find that Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. This remedy is a never failing cure for Indigestion and Dyspepsia and all complaints affecting the glands or membranes of the stomach or digestive tract. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure everything you eat tastes good and every bit of the nutriment that your food contains is assimilated and appropriated by the blood and tissues. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

How long will it take the man to fill the sack if he does not stop the leak? To attempt to nourish the body when the stomach is diseased is like trying to fill the sack with the hole in it. When the stomach and other digestive and nutritive organs are diseased there is a constant loss of nutrition.

Enough is eaten but the body loses flesh,—plain proof that the food eaten is largely wasted because it is not digested and assimilated.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It stops the leaks by which nutrition is lost, and enables the building up of the body by the nutrition derived from food. The gain in weight proves the cure.

"Three years ago I was taken sick with what the doctor called nervousness and indigestion," writes Mrs. Warren E. Parker, of Orange Street, Nantucket, Mass. "He gave me medicine for the trouble, but I could not eat even a little toast or oatmeal without suffering severely. In a few months I began to have distressing pains right in the pit of my stomach. I called the doctor again and he said I had catarrh of stomach; gave me medicine but it did not do any good. I lost 26 pounds in three months. I then commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicines and soon began to feel better. I have taken six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' two of 'Favorite Prescription' and six vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets. I have gained ten pounds. Can eat everything."

SATCHEL THIEF CAPTURED.

He Was Engaged in His Nefarious Work for Three Weeks.

George H. Bressett, of 948 First street, Williamsport, was arrested at 1.30 o'clock Thursday afternoon by Captain George W. Vernes and Detective Charles Bathurst, of Pennsylvania railroad force for stealing grips, suit cases and satchels of railroad passengers, says the Gazette and Bulletin. Detective Pursley, of the Philadelphia and Reading force, and Detective Lebo, of the New York Central, were also at work on the case.

The important capture insures an end of depredations that have been committed with almost unparalleled boldness for the last three weeks, the prisoner alternating in his work between the Reading and Pennsylvania stations.

The nerve of the fellow in carrying on his thieving was foolhardy and bound to finally lead to his detection. At the Reading station the baggage master had two gripe to check and did check one, then went to do the same with the other. When he stooped to pick them both up one was gone, Bressett having taken it and ridden hurriedly away on his bicycle.

The patient watch of Pennsylvania railroad detectives Thursday afternoon was rewarded. In the forenoon Bressett was at the station but went away empty handed, followed however, by a boy on a wheel, whom Detective Bathurst sent to learn where the suspect went. In the afternoon, when train No. 12, which was late, came in Bressett was at the station. So were the detectives. As Bathurst walked down the platform, the "grip-snatcher," hurried through the station picked up a grip and rode away Captain Vernes was watching him from the Park hotel. The two officers started in pursuit and arrested him at his home.

The detectives returned to search the house and obtained the following: A clothes basket containing five skirts, two ladies' suits, numerous waists, sacques, aprons, underwear, and four corset covers. Lot No. 2 consisted of a grip contained shoes, three ladies' waists, boy's apparel, undergarments, night gowns, etc. Another satchel contained about two dozen pieces of summer silk and woolen goods of various kinds. The fourth lot was a satchel with a piece of brown heavy cloth, shirts, handkerchief, collars, ties, ribbons, stockings, and the like. A black suit and the goods stolen just before he was arrested, razors, silver mug and brush and some little china cups and saucers, complete the "swag."

Chief Evans Thursday evening made another search of the house and found a bicycle that was stolen September 7 and had been repainted. Evidently Bressett used a stolen wheel to help him in his work of thriving.

Revival of "The Taming of the Shrew."

Conspicuous among this season's theatrical offerings is the revival of "The Taming of the Shrew" in which Charles B. Hanford, the well known Shakespearean star, will be seen in this city at Garman Opera House on Tuesday evening Oct. 6.

Mr. Hanford begs leave to announce that nothing has been left undone to enchance the attractiveness of the delightful old comedy. Every picture will be given its proper setting. Special scenery has been designed for this production by leading New York artists who have vied with each other to secure the best and most beautiful results. Their efforts, it is said, have been crowned with much success not only on account of their extra exertions, but also because the Italian atmosphere and the coloring of the period of "The Taming of the Shrew" readily lend themselves to artistic endeavor. The costuming of the play is on a par with the scenic excellence, while all the other appointments, properties and electrical effects help to make the production one of the most notable that was ever sent on tour. It is stated that every member of the company is an artist who has won his spurs in Shakespearean drama. At the head of Mr. Hanford's supporting company is the actress Miss Marie Drofnah, concerning whom so much has been written. Already a great deal of curiosity has been manifested to see her in the role of Katherine.

A Bad Feature of Fairs.

The Pittsburg Times recently contained the following, with which every man whose standard of morals is of a wholesome brand, will readily agree:

"The country fair is in full blast now over the State, and the attendance when the weather does not interfere is reported good. The interest shown by the people of the country communities is not abating But there is one feature of the country fair which cannot be regarded with any satisfaction, and that is the growing toleration of gambling devices. Once the gambler at the country fair was looked upon with horror. Of late he has come to be one the chief features. In some fairs it is said that the gambler plays such high prices for the privilege of fleecing the people that the entire expenses of the fair are met in this manner if everything else should prove a failure. The managers excuse the presence of the gambler by saying that the people want to play the gambling games and that the gambler pays the expenses of the fair. Undoubtedly there is truth in the argument. If the people did not patronize the gambler at the fair he would not be there. The patronage is the misfortune. At some fairs it has become notorious. Whenever the gambler is tolerated the reputation of the fair soon spreads. Some of the fairs will not permit gamblers on the grounds. From all signs such fairs do not suffer any from want of attractions or attendance. It is safe to reason that other fairs could be made attractive to the people by providing something else than dishonest games. If not, then the fair that depends on the gamblers should shut up shop. It the rumors are true that the women are playing the gambling games openly at some of the country fairs the managers of such fairs have a plain duty, and that is to abolish the gambler, and if the management will not do it the borough officials should take a hand. The legitimate country fair is too valuable an institution to suffer from disreputable practices."

FIRST POST ORGANIZED.

Society of American War Veterans Begin Business at Altoona.

In the hall of Post 468, Grand Army of the Republic, at Altoona, James L. Noble Post, Society of American War Veterans, was organized Thursday evening. The organization is the outcome of the recent national convention at Altoona of what was known as the Society of Philippine and China War Veterans but whose name was changed at that meeting so as to make all persons eligible to membership who have served as United States soldiers in China, the Philippines, Cuba and Port Rico. The meeting was well attended and the post starts in business under most favorable prospects.

The choosing of the name does honor to James L. Noble, a Blair county boy killed in action in the Philippine war. He met his death at Tecloban, Island of Leyte, in 1900. Previous to being killed he was shot April 26, 1900. Noble was aged 22 years and worked as a fireman when he was enlisted in the Forty-third regiment, United States Volunteers by Captain John S. Fair, now a lieutenant in the regular army. He made a good soldier, never shirked duty and his comrades honor his memory by choosing his name as that of the post.

He Fines Them for Swearing.

The Huntingdon Globe thinks the people of that town would swear the borough out of debt in a jiffy if officers of the place would listen to, and act upon the course Judge Biddle, of Carlisle, has entered upon, he having recently notified policemen and constables that they are in duty bound to arrest persons they hear swearing. He says he will fine offenders sixty-seven cents per oath. Just think of the editors, lawyers, Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists and so on of the old mother town standing up before the bar of Huntingdon justice and yanking out their wallets in answer to a demand for an ante at the rate of sixty-seven cents each for a wagon load or so of cuss words. That debt, great as it is, would sink out of sight so quick that even the most penurious citizen would fail to see it take its exit, Wise idea, Brother Butz. Push your claim.—Tyrone Herald.

Would it not be a good plan for Burgess Walker to act on the above suggestion? If he would station officers on the High street bridge and elsewhere in town during the summer evenings he could collect enough fines to run the water works a year.

A Model Farce Comedy.

"The Taming of the Shrew" is conceded to be the most amusing of all of Shakespearean comedies. Petruchio's determination to subdue the vixenish nature of Katherine causes so many comical situations that there is a constant succession of laughs from beginning to the ending of the play. Many modern farce comedy writers have taken this piece as a model for the most successful works. Not to have seen "The Taming of the Shrew" is to have missed one of the most deliciously humorous entertainments ever put on the stage. It is gratifying to announce that this city will have an opportunity to witness Shakespeare's funniest play at the opera house on Tuesday October 6 where it will be presented by Charles B. Hanford and his competent company.

Cow Comes to Farmer's Rescue.

To a cow Henry Sharp, a farmer residing near Tannery, York county owes his life. Sharp was suddenly attacked by a savage bull. The assault knocked him down and the infuriated animal then attempted to gore him. He was fast being butted to death when one of the cows, hearing the bull bellowing with rage, rushed out of the barn and attacked the bull, goring it in the sides with her horns. This caused the bull to desist from his attack on Sharp, who managed to reach a place of safety.

A CLEVER ILLUSTRATION WITH CONCLUSIVE PROOF.

There is an old formula in philosophy which says that no two things can occupy the same place at the same time. As a simple illustration, drive a nail into a board and you will find with every stroke of the hammer, the nail will force aside the particles of wood into which it is being driven, finally making a place for itself, and proving that the nail and the wood do not occupy the same place at the same time.

DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER and Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy cannot occupy the same place at the same time. If you are troubled with frequent pains in the back; if your urine stains linen; if you urinate frequently during the night, and a burning pain accompanies its passage, your kidneys and bladder are in bad shape and should be treated at once.

Every dose of DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY slowly but surely pushes aside some of the particles of the dread diseases of the kidneys and bladder, liver, blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and constipation, until they completely disappear. Do not lose faith or find fault, if you are not entirely cured by one bottle, because if these diseases have fastened their grip on you the longer and harder it is to drive them away.

The Secret of Wealth.

The secret of wealth lies not in wealth, rank, genius or eloquence, but in a strict adherence to the truth. Truth is the essence, the very backbone of character. Without it all the qualifications that go to make up noble manhood count for naught. Nothing is beautiful or strong or permanent without it. Boys, if you expect to be trusted, admired, respected—yes honored, you must tell the truth, and act the truth; the principles of truthfulness must be firmly rooted in your heart and stamped upon you countenance. Thackeray says: "Nature has written a letter of credit upon some men's faces which is honored where ever presented. You cannot help trusting such men: their very presence gives confidence. Their is a promise to pay in their very faces which gives confidence, and you prefer it to another man's indorsement. —Advocate.

Merciless Fire Fiend.

Keating, Pa., Sept. 26.—One of the most disastrous fires in the history of this place occurred here Thursday evening, when the magnificent residence of Henry Fisher, situated on one of the most picturesque spots on the right bank of the west branch of the Susquehanna river, caught fire and was totally destroyed. The cost of building and contents is estimated at about $5,000, which is partly covered by insurance. Mr. Fisher had allowed a policy on furniture to expire just previous to the disaster. Among the most valuable furniture destroyed was a piano worth $500, a gift to his daughter on her wedding day. It was ruined by water. Mr. Fisher just recently had his house renovated and furnished with new furniture. The fire originated by the explosion of a large hall lamp.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM.

We fail to see any cause for alarm in the financial world at the present time owing to the recent liquidation in a few rotten stocks which never had any considerable rating in the commercial world. A panic in the stock market, to our mind, bears very little relation to the actual commercial situation, and further than to temporarily check the investment of capital which under ordinary circumstances, would readily take hold of legitimate enterprises, we do not think the present liquidation will do much harm. It may cause some depression for the time being but as soon as the excitement subsides, and investors begin to realize once more that the speculators have been driven to cover, things will settle back to their normal conditions.

It is true that there is a falling off in the price of pig iron and steel billets, but these commodities have commanded a very high figure of late, and a little fluctuation in that direction may have a somewhat wholesome effect on the consumer. Be that as it may, the country is in too prosperous a condition to suffer much at the hands of wild cat speculations at present. Therefore, let us drop speculation for the present and proceed to business.

"Centre County" on Curtin Monument

THE EDITOR OF THE REPUBLICAN:

Sir:—Would it be out of place suggest that, the writer of the letters in last weeks paper was somewhat blind and unnecessarily obtuse in his use of words. His argument was overweighted by an unconsciously disproportionate emphasis.

The use of the term "Historic Museum" in its connection failed to convey a clear idea of what would be the natural position of this feature of the project.

The State of the case is really something like this. Most Public Libraries have a room or rooms set apart as a Repository of articles illustrating the early history of the locality, town or city, or of some of the wars of the nation; but the words "Historic Museum" are rarely heard. It seems to be a feature of such buildings which is taken for granted, a spontaneous and natural adjunct an out growth connected with all buildings with literary associations, and uses.

They become in the widest sense Repositories of community achieves, town temples where not so much legal records are stored as objects illustrating the growth and history of that section of the State or Nation, and in this case the Public and Private life of a famous Governor. It would be a continuous exhibit of such a collection on a smaller scale, as was given to public view at the time of the Centre County Centennial. But to speak in such large terms of a "Historic Museum" is to be misleading and to over emphasize to say the least, this feature of the main design. The main idea of course, which we all want, is a "Curtin Memorial."

The main feature too, of the Public Library would be a collection of all documents, books, State and National records which would illustrate and throw light upon the career of Gov. Curtin, the history of Centre County and Pennsylvania and then naturally as wider developments of the same thing the History and Literature of the United States of America, and of the world.

It seemed to me, Mr. Editor that this was not clearly outlined in the letters of last week.

Very Respectfully,
CENTRE COUNTY.

A Wedding at Pine Grove.

A pretty home wedding occurred at the home of J. G. Fortney at Pine Grove Mills on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock when a housefull of people witnessed the marriage of Miss Elsie Fortney to Mr. C. D. Krebs.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. T. Aikens. The wedding march was played by Miss Annie Fortney a sister of the bride. Miss Inez Fortney cousin to the bride was bridesmaid and Mr. Ora Krebs, the grooms youngest brother, was best man.

The bride was the recipient of many useful presents. The usual wedding supper was served, the best that the market and farm could produce.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Fortney and is a splendid lady who has many friends.

The groom is a son of the late Levi Krebs and a well-to-do young man.

THEIR BLUFF CALLED

Republicans Are Eager to Meet the Democrats On State Issues.

ARE PROUD OF THEIR RECORD

State Finances Never In Better Condition and Every Department of the State Government Is Managed With Signal Ability and Economy.

[Special Correspondence.]

Harrisburg, Sept. 29.—The Republican managers have called the bluff of the Democrats in the present canvass and announced that they are ready to meet their spellbinders upon any issue they may present.

The Democratic state platform was built entirely upon what were termed "state issues." Owing to the wide difference of opinion among Democrats of today as to what the Democratic party in the nation really stands for, it was deemed wise to avoid further disruptions in the party by attempting to place the Pennsylvania Democratic organization on record upon any of the great national questions which divide the parties.

Never in the history of the Democracy have their leaders been so much at sea as they are today.

They are floundering about afraid to attempt to land anywhere, and they see the young men of the country just entering into citizenship looking upon them with expressions of disgust and contempt and refusing to have anything to do with them or their party.

With the presidential campaign to be waged next year, the "first voters" naturally have their minds directed to fundamental principles of government and the isues which have divided the national parties in previous elections, but when they turn to the Pennsylvania Democracy they discover that there is no settled or fixed policy with which the party organization is directed. They are told that "national issues are not being discussed this year; it is all state issues."

While believing that the campaign this fall is actually a preliminary skirmish of the national contest next year, and that the returns of the election in November will have a positive influence in shaping the lines for the presidential struggle, the Republican campaign managers in Pennsylvania have expressed themselves as ready and eager to meet the Democrats at their own game. Let state issues be freely discussed, they say.

The Republican orators in this campaign point with pride to the administration of every public trust that has been committed to the Republican party and its candidates in Pennsylvania.

The state treasury was never in a better condition and the administration of Governor Pennypacker meets with the indorsement of all fair-minded citizens who recognize the fact that they have a thoroughly patriotic and conscientious executive officer who is administering his office in the interest of the whole people.

Every branch of the state government is being managed ably and economically.

Candidate for State Treasurer William L. Mathues, in discussing the political situation, said:

"There are no 'off years' in our organization, nor should there be any at any time in the Republican party. Sometimes the offices in number and importance to be voted for are greater and more exalted, but each year has its current duties and responsibilities, and this year, preceding as it does the national struggle for president, should be one in which this grand old commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in which I was born and in which I live, and which all of us love and are proud of, should speak in no uncertain or faltering tones.

"In this republic of ours Pennsylvania occupies the most exalted position, and I am one of those who are of the opinion that this supremacy of our commonwealth is greatly, almost wholly we may justly contend, due to the supremacy of our party. Under Republican control in its principal departments almost continuously since 1860, we have advanced marvelously in industrial strength and wealth, augmented our manufacturing power until it leads all other states and competes with foreign plants in the four corners of the world. Our state finances are stable, our credit gilt-edged and the debt comparatively effaced. Our educational system and its advantages by reason of the liberality of the state are unsurpassed and unequaled. Prosperity abounds, the times are good and contentment environs our people, and what is better than all, the outlook for the future is auspicious.

"There is no cloud as big as a man's hand on the horizon, save only the danger of Democratic control—the recurrence of those deplorable 'Democratic times' we all recall, some to their sorrow, when the bitter cry of those in the gainful occupations who sought work and found it not, went up in distress to the heavens everywhere over our fair land. I do not want those times again. Even many of our Democratic friends fear them, for they have gotten into a fashion (a good many of them) of voting with us and for our candidates and policy.

"Let us take no insane leap in the dark. Putting on our armor and girding up our political loins this year for the great battle of 1904, let Pennsylvania declare in most emphatic terms that she intends to stand resolutely and confidently by the McKinley policy and the policy of our own able and aggressive young President Roosevelt and leave well enough alone."

State Chairman Penrose Receives Many Cheering Reports.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS AROUSED

They Are Lining Up Throughout Pennsylvania For Roosevelt and Determined to Poll a Great Vote In November.

[Special Correspondence.]

Philadelphia, Sept. 29.—During the last 24 hours Senator Penrose, as chairman of the Republican state committee, has been getting in touch with the situation in the state and he is very much gratified with what he has learned regarding the condition of the party organization and popular sentiment in the several counties. The senator returned on Sunday from a hunting trip in British Columbia and was naturally interested in political developments during his absence.

The state chairman found on his desk reports from every Republican county chairman in the state that had been made in accordance with a request sent out some time ago by Secretary W. R. Andrews for a preliminary canvass, and in every instance he had occasion to be pleased with what he read.

"It is indeed gratifying," said Chairman Penrose, "to find the men identified with the party organization throughout the state manifesting so keen an interest in the approaching election. There is every reason to believe that the Republican county committeemen and the party voters generally recognize the importance of our getting out a full vote in November, and that they are determined to let nothing undone to accomplish this result."

Senator Penrose was particularly pleased with the reports regarding the convention of the State League of Republican Clubs held at Wilkesbarre, which marked practically the opening of the state campaign, and regretted that unforeseen circumstances had prevented him from being present. The large attendance and the enthusiasm witnessed at this convention must be taken as additional evidence of the ardor with which the young Republicans of Pennsylvania are entering into the spirit of the campaign with a view to preparing for the presidential election of next year.

They are all for Roosevelt, and they want it known that they are going to see to it that he receives the nomination to succeed himself in the White House. They stand solidly with the Pennsylvania Republican organization on this issue.

After reaffirming their fealty and devotion to the principles of Republicanism, as set forth in the state and national platforms of the party and indorsing the state candidates, the clubmen declared:

"We give our most cordial indorsement to the splendid administration of President Theodore Roosevelt, who so fully exemplifies and reflects our ideal of American citizenship in both private and public life, and we commend his courageous, sound and patriotic administration. We congratulate him on the success he has already attained both at home and in his foreign policy, and pledge him our earnest support in his future labors in behalf of our great country.

"We also congratulate the people of Pennsylvania upon the safe and conservative administration of our state affairs, Governor Pennypacker having already proved himself a wise, prudent, firm and conscientious executive.

"Believing in organization, we pledge ourselves to the service of our party and our country in the battle of 1904 for the maintenance of protection to American labor, a sound financial policy and the development of American influence for commerce and civilization.

That is where the Young Republicans of Pennsylvania stand in this contest.

Many members of the State League are farmers or business or profesional men, who take but an occasional interest in politics, but that they are all now aroused to the importance of the campaign cannot be questioned.

The sentiments of the Republicans of Northampton were eloquently expressed a few days ago by their county convention, which among other things set forth:

"The general prosperity of the country, which has been realized from the Republican tariff laws based upon the cardinal principle of protection, must not be disturbed by vicious tariff tinkering, which is threatened by the Democratic party in its usual disposition to lead the country into the channels of free trade and commercial depression.

"That the administration of President Roosevelt, in its true Americanism, its great achievements, its advanced patriotism, is worthy of our highest commendation, and we proudly recognize the wisdom of placing in his hands the standard of the Republican party as its leader in the presidential contest of 1904.

"The administration of Governor Pennypacker deserves the unqualified commendation of the people of the commonwealth, and we especially congratulate the people of the commonwealth upon the passage of the "good roads law," whereby a considerable portion of the revenues of the state are devoted to the construction of improved state highways."

STIVER TOWN.

Stiver Town seems to be the centre of attractions for a broad section of our valley. On last Sunday it was a veritable bee-hive of social personages seeking some of them perhaps, that which tickleth and pleaseth their social inclinations. Others, no doubt, that by which their physical appetites may be satisfied, while still others, we doubt not, were seeking that more staple and lasting (?) though invisible and intangible "Something" which createth and cultivateth desires which will eventually end in matrimonial vows. In this "Something" this little town, is evidently very rich, judging from the wonderful attraction exerted upon some of our young people farther south, because we know that their social environments in their immediate community is very good and their pantrys are always full of that which satisfieth the physical being. We believe that if this magnetism continues to exert its influence upon our young people, the above named vows will be made before the voice of the robin and the bloom of the violets shall have harbingered beautiful springtime. Among the visitors to this little mountain town were Lloyd Stiver and family of Port Matilda Walter Heston and Mattie Williams of Martha.

Death of Judge Bailey of Huntingdon County.

Hon. John M. Bailey, president judge of the Twentieth judicial district, dropped dead in his home at Huntingdon on Sunday morning. His fall was heard by a domestic, who summoned a physician, who hurried to his assistance, but found life extinct. Judge Bailey was elected in 1895 in a triangular fight between two Republicans and himself. His term would have expired in 1906. Judge Bailey was born at Dillsburg, York county. He was at one time connected with the law firm of Scott, Brown and Bailey. He was a member of the constitutional conventions of 1872 and 1873, and served on the committee of revenue of taxation and finances. The deceased leaves a widow and one son, Thomas Fisher Bailey, Esq., a member of the Huntingdon county bar. Judge Bailey was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Huntingdon, and one of its elders.

—Mrs. John Sechler presented her husband with twins Saturday morning. This makes fourteen children and is certainly carrying out the Roosevelt idea in regard to large families.

Greater Home Labor; Equity Tariff Reform.

In appreciation of that which is good government, climate and resources, to employ every willing able worker on scale capabilities to produce commodities in quantity and quality per actual hour labor of any nation, the writer begs to acknowledge our United States treasury department chart relative to our markets and foreign commere, with conditions of world's money by nation, its kind and volume per capita. Imports and exports, summary and per capita from 1800 to 1902, their persual with the knowledge of changes in administration custom values on imported goods, it becomes a true mirror of ups and downs of trades, worthy of due consideration of every American. The said compilation by the bureau of statistics are in compliance with tariff laws, such as the Republican laws of 1883 that exempt from taxation and from being included in statistical values of imports the sundry charges of packing, coverings, commissions, insurance and transportation from loom or mill of producing export labor packages to this country. Our late eminent President Harrison by his American purity statesmanship endeavored to get clean administration bills and it was modified to exempting from statistical values of import the freight charges from place of producing the goods ready for shipment. The words of Democratic wisdom from the late eminent congressman and New York mayor, Abraham Hewitt, "A scale of high or low tariff make it commercially honest," its equity accomplishments are only exempt from taxation on ad valorem value, the home insurance and freight charges conveyed in United States registered ships and imports of specific rate of dutiables to have tax on freight charges by foreign ships, the rate of forty-five per cent. and all freight charges to be included in statistical values of imported merchandise the same as individual merchant's accounts. Such precepts of honesty by our government are absolute necessities to protect our currency of coin money. We have the ship building material resources second to none in the world and fertility feed and clothe the people to the highest degree of intelligence, to float American merchant marine in every clime when having protective tariff on ocean trade, as on our mills, farms and mines product, we are now paying $100,000,000 annually to foreign ships conveying labor packages to and from our shores.

HOME MARKET TO CAPTURE.

Imported merchandise for the fiscal year ending June, 1903, freight charges by rail or ocean from place of shipment not included in part are as follows:

Copper, ore and regular	$ 3,385,652
Copper, pigs, bars, ingots, plates	17,305,247
Cement, Roman and Portland	3,547,914
Soda and products, salts	8,340,585
Coal	10,562,005
Cotton	10,970,671
Cotton cloth, knit goods, etc.	52,462,684
Baggin, carpets, linens	39,334,521
Wool and woolens	41,690,817
Silk, manufactured	35,962,854
Earthen stone, Chinaware	10,512,052
Hides and skins, no furs	58,031,613
Glass and glassware	7,038,282
Bronze and mfg. of	7,056,654
Iron and steel	51,617,312

In this iron and steel quotation there are tin and terne plate (tinned and leaded steel and iron sheets) amounting to $3,209,915. The former year importations were $6,065,624, and during the last congressional term of the late Hon. Samuel Randal, a Democrat, it was $25,000,000 per annum, and he formulated the first tariff bill on tin and terne plate—two cents per pound. The duty is now one cent, hence the high grade are made on the other side of the ocean, and by the sharp competition of trade and scarcity of charcoal in England.

We don't get economy long service tinned iron plate, hence to obtain intelligent use of our labor and the vast refuse timber going to waste and our sluggish trade in Central Pennsylvania celebrated hematite iron ore, that would make the highest grade goods by intelligent equity tariff law.

The famous Scotia mine has yielded one and a half million tons since Carnegies first holding and now being worked by Central Pennsylvania Iron company. There are well defined iron ore veins on each side of Nittany ridge, and between the same a large area of glass sand deserving a cross cut main line railroad, on the border of Clinton and Centre counties, that would cut the south-east and north-west iron ore beds one mile apart for open drain grade mining of twelve miles or more. The beneficial climate and valley resources are of the most commendable character, hence the endorsement of Messrs. Carnegie and Schwab's gift of magnificent public hall and library to the Pennsylvania State College.

Yours Truly,
JAMES WOLFENDEN.

This song is more typically American and more uplifting than the majority of our borrowed national airs.

Our most interesting display of all the latest designs of High Grade Pianos as well as Organs in piano case, chapel and parlor style, a showing which has never been equaled here, which means it will be well worth seeing.

PUSHING UP BUSINESS

by pushing down prices is the one way to succeed, so long as merit is not sacrificed. We think we have attained "the golden means" by keeping up quality in Pianos and giving prices a gentle push downward. You won't think it—you'll know it when you see and hear our instruments and learn our prices.

We offer this week a number of excellent Pianos just returned from rent. They were new when they went out and have been in use only a few months. A special price will be made on them.

We have also a large line of all the well known makes of Organs at special bargains, $15.00, $20.00, $25.00 and upwards suited for homes and school purposes. Organs to rent at moderate prices. Call or address

DER PENNSYLVANIER

Mischter Drucker! — D'r anner Dag hab ich misse lache iwer d'r deitsch Hannes. Er is ewe noch eener vun d'r riele alte Sort. Er hot vun seim ältste Buh g'schwätzt, was ah Hannes is getahft worre, den se awer Dschahn heeße. D'r jung Hannes is vor ebbes iwer en Johr geheiert worre un hot ah schun en junger Hannes. Well, sell is soweit allrecht, es belangt zum Lewe. Awer sunscht is net Alles allrecht, wie ich vum alte Hannes erfahre hab. Do will ich Eich schreiwe, was er mir gesaht hot: „Am Sundag hab ich mei Buh besucht, was, wie Du weescht, driwe im Thal en kleene Brauerei gerent hot. Es is mir grad ufgefalle, daß er schlecht ausguckt, un ich hab ihn gefrogt, was fehle dät, daß er so iwel aussieht. Do hot d'r groß Dappis schier anfange zu heule un hot gesaht, do mecht d'r Deiwel gut ausgucke, wann er die ganz Nacht kee Ahg zumache kann un d'r ganz Dag hart schaffe muß. Unser Kleener is so en ferchterlicher Krischer un do muß ich ihn die ganz Nacht rumbrage. — Jo, sag ich, was dhut dann Dei Frah? — Ei, die leit im Bett un battert sich net um des Bobbel. — Mer kann doch so en Kind en bissel schockle, wann es wacker werd, dann schloft es bal wieder ei. — Sell is es grad, wo d'r Hoke is, segt mei Buh. Mei Frah will ken Schockel habwe. Wie Du weescht, hot se en arg gut Schuling kriegt, un do hot se ergebs gelese, daß es die Kinner schädlich wär, wann mer se schockelt un se kickt wie en Esel, wann ich vun ere Schockel sprech. —Se mag kicke wie en Esel, awer d'r Esel bisch Du. Bei mir derheem werre alle Kinner geschockelt. Ich bin geschockelt worre un so bischt ah Du. Was mit Dir nau letz is, hoscht Du schuhr net krigt vum Schockle. Ich hab Dich nie en ganze Nacht rumbrage misse. Wie Du krank gewetzt warst vum Zahne, do hot die Mäm mit mir die Erwet gedheelt. Wann Du emol gebrillt hoscht un es hot Dir sunscht nix gefehlt, dann hot mer Dich juscht en bissel geschockelt un bal bischt Du wieder eigeschlofe. Do is net ufgestanne worre. Die Schockel hot newig em Bett gestanne un mer hot ihr juscht en baar Mol en Pusch gewe mit d'r Hand ober mit d'r große Zeh, un es war wieder Ruh.—Jo, sell war zu Deiner Zeit, hot mei Buh verlahbt zu sage; alleweil is es annerscht.—Des hot mich awer falsch gemacht un ich hab gesaht: ich sehn wol, daß es annerscht is. Domols is en junger Kerl en Mann worre, wann er g'heiert hot, awer alleweil werd er in viele Fäll en Waschlappe. Wann er juscht en Mädel kriege kann, was bissel en scheene Fratz hot, en heechere Schuling hot un am End gar noch Veiano spiele kann, dann denkt er, was Wunners as er hät. For en Stadt-Lädie mag sell noch angehne, awer for en Bauersfrah—ach, daß Gott erbarm! Noch net emol en Gedankestrich dun ere Bauersfrah is so en Ding. Un so eens hoscht Du. Halt an, Hannes, net bees werre, wann Dei alter Dotz zu Dir schwätzt. Es mag Dich en bissel hart dreffe, awer es is wohr und Du weescht es. Sag ehrlich, was hoscht Du for en Lewe. En junger Kerl wie Du, was ersht en bissel iwer finfunzwanzig Johr is un schier gucht wie en alter Mann. Es scheint mir schier, Du kriegst ah net emol ebbes Ordentlichs gekocht. Gel, ich hab's gerothe! Was dhut dann Dei Wisch den liewe lange Dag? Im Schockelstuhl hocke, bischuhr, sell is des Ding for en Bauersfrah, wann mer junge Anfänger is. Nau nimm mei Roth, stell Dich uf die Hinnerbee un weis ihr d'r Mann; Du kannst nix verliere awer viel gewinne. Ich meen net, daß Du Dei Frah bejuhse sollst, awer Du mußt se konvinze, daß se ah ihr Duties hot. Wann Du en ganzer Dag geschafft hoscht uf em Feld, dann bischt Du en Narr, wann Du die ganz Nacht mit em Bobbel uf em Arm in d'r Stub rum dappst. Do dät ich enihau mei Schärbrille loffe, verleicht kriegt se dann Verstand un kahft en Schockel. Dhut se net, dann dät ich an Deim Platz ufem Speicher schlofe. Sell fetscht se schuhr.—Mei liewer Hannes hot dogestanne, wie's Kind beim Dreck. Ich hab ihm angesehne, daß er mir Recht gebt; eb er awer nau meim Roth folgt, weeß ich net. Er kennt mich baure, wann's mich net so verdollt bees mache dät."

Ich hab gesaht zum Hannes, daß ich meene dät, es wär schad, daß er net en Weibsmensch wär. Noch Allem hät er en forstrehte Schwärmutter gemacht, so eene, wie mer alsemol in d'r Zeitung lest. Des hot ihm awer gelächert.

Volume of Trade Large Notwithstanding Unsatisfactory Features

EQUALLED LOU DILLON'S RECORD

Major Delmar Goes a Great Mile Friday at Yonker's N. Y.—A Big Steel Plant at Pittsburg to Resume.

OTHER NEWS OF IMPORTANCE

NEW YORK, September 26.—R. G. Dun's Weekly Review of Trade today will says:

Notwithstanding several unsatisfactory features the volume of trade continues large and the distribution of merchandise taxes shipping facilities. Announcement of a concerted effort to restrict production of pig iron indicates that supplies have begun to accumulate. New labor controversies have begun, but a number of serious troubles have been averted, and on the whole, the number of men idle voluntarily has diminished. Enforced idleness in the iron and steel industry is more than offset by resumption of spindles at cotton mills, and there is great activity at footwear factories, although the margin of profit is narrow. Lower prices for the leading agriculture staples indicate a general belief in improved crop prospects. Jobbing trade is still making good comparisons with previous years and while the zenith has been passed in fall dry goods it is still a satisfactory season.

Demand for finished iron and steel is restricted by uncertainty regarding quotations and until a more settled condition exists, there will be no incentive to place contracts liberally, although it is known that much business is under consideration.

Owing to the demoralized condition of manufacture, supplies of pig iron have accumulated, and it is now generally agreed among leading producers that a curtailment of blast furnace output is necessary. Encouraging reports are heard as to a few branches of the industry, notably wire and some structural shapes.

As to woolens, the best business is noted in dress goods, while men's wear fabrics are still very quiet.

Failures this week numbered 232 in the United States against 207 last year, and nineteen in Canada compared with thirty-two a year ago.

NEW YORK, September 26.—At the Empire City track at Yonkers Friday Major Delmar went against his own record of 2:00½ and went to the quarter in 0.30½, to the half in 0.59, to the three quarters in 1:29 and to the wire in 2:00, thus equalling the world's record held by Lou Dillon.

At 4:45 Major Delmar came out for his trial against the world's record and his own. On the first trial he started out smoothly, but broke at the end of the first quarter. Back he came and with a runner drawing the wind breaking sulky before him, started on what was to be the record mile equal. He passed the quarter in 30½ seconds and sped down the back stretch with marvelous regularity. Reaching the half in 59 seconds, Delmar trotted around the turn without a falter, finishing the three-quarters in 1:29 with a world's record fin if he maintained his speed. The gelding, however, could not maintain the pace, but trotting the last quarter in 31 equalled the world's record of 2:00 and set a new mark for trotting geldings and himself.

PITTSBURG, September 26.—After a shut down of exactly four weeks, the Clairton plant, Crucible Steel company, will resume, operation in all departments Sunday night. The plant will run both day and night turns, and all the open hearth furnaces, blooming and billett mills will be running to their full capacity. About 1,000 men will put to work.

While no official confirmation could be had of the fact Friday, it was learned that the contract made some time ago between the Crucible and Clairton Steel companies and the United States Steel corporation as to the tonnage of the Clairton plant will be put into effect with the reopening of the Clairton works.

Everybody's Magazine for October

Everybody's Magazine begins to be something more than an entertaining ten cents' worth of fiction and articles. An identity has been developed—a study and aggressive identity all its own and full of interest and promise. Thus far, the magazine has prided itself on the timeliness of its features and the healthy virility of its fiction. Now, it has found itself, entered on its own mission, headed out on its particular crusade. The keynote of this individuality is the article by Alfred Henry Lewis, in the October number, "The Madness of Much Money." This is a scathing attack on the vulgar displays of great wealth to which the new generation of millionaires has treated the country. With a brutal directness Mr. Lewis diagnoses the madness which often goes with much and sudden wealth, and ridicules unsparingly the gilded idlers who make up the so-called American aristocracy. It is a rough, even a pitiless arraignment of certain prominent persons and it is safe to be generally read and appreciated all over the country. Throughout this number the magazine shows a purpose to depart from the baleful worship of Mammon and its possessors which characterizes so much of the writings in current periodicals.

Among the States

Kansas farmers last year received for their milk and cream $8,545 257.15

In shipbuilding Pennsylvania stands first and New York second, while California is a good third.

Homer R. Dill, of Gardiner, Me., has been appointed State Taxidermist and intends to preserve a specimen of every kind of bird, fish or animal found in his state.

Oregon is contemplating the erection, at a cost of $10,000, of a huge wigwam, 180 feet high, for its State building at the World's Fair in St. Louis. The wigwam is planned to be primarily an exhibit of the lumber resources of that State, and will be constructed of trees 200 feet long, crossing 180 feet above the ground, after the primitive houses of the American indians. The proposed structure would occupy a ground area of 50 by 100 feet.

THE GENUINE VS. COUNTERFEITS.

The genuine is always better than a counterfeit but the truth of this statement is never more forcibly realized or more thoroughly appreciated than when you compare the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve with the many counterfeits and worthless substitutes that are on the market. W. S. Ledbetter, of Shreveport, La., says: "After using numerous other remedies without benefit, one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me." For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles no remedy is equal to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

A NEW JERSEY EDITOR'S TESTIMONIAL.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Grain for the World's Fair.

Col. John A. Woodward, who is to represent the agriculture of Pennsylvania at the world's fair at St Louis next year, has just completed arrangements with the Centre County Fair Associat on whereby the best exhibits of grain made there may be taken to St. Louis next year.

In order that Centre county be properly represented at the world's fair it is desirable that this grain exhibit be made as fine as possible and Col. Woodward would like to have each exhibitor show at least 2 quarts of grain. 2 quarts will be necessary in order to allow for recleaning and rearranging.

All kinds of grain, corn, millet and grass seeds are wanted. If you would like to have some of your products go to the world's fair here is your chance.

As Others See Us.

Of all the rabbles that ever infested a railroad station, that at Bellefonte, is the worst. It is almost impossible for passengers to get on and off the Pennsylvania trains for the crowds of idlers, men and women, boys and girls, who press up to the very steps of the cars. A good stout Irishman who would lay about with a shelalah is badly needed there, or wanting that, a man from Philipsburg with a plain club might do effective work.—Philipsburg Ledger.

Costs on the Game Official.

A Carlisle exchange says: "Dr. Kalbfus, the state game official, was mulcted for the costs in the case brought by him against A. Brinkman, of Mechanicsburg, for shooting reed birds out of season. The grand jury ignored the bill against Brinkman. Dr. Kalbfus said that he had not expected the case to be called up, as Brinkman had promised to pay the fine. He further said that, under the law, the game commission is not liable for costs."

Firemen's Trumpet of Coal.

At the State convention of firemen at Allentown this month the Rescue Fire Engine and Hose company, of Shamokin, will present to the Rescue Hook and Ladder company No. 8, of Allentown, a beautiful and costly trumpet made from coal. It was made at Shenandoah, and is a handsome piece of work.

A PHYSICIAN HEALED.

Dr. Geo. Ewing, a practicing physician of Smith's Grove, Ky., for over thirty years, writes his personal experience with Foley's Kidney Cure: "For years I had been greatly bothered with kidney and bladder trouble and enlarged prostrate glands. I used everything known to the profession without relief, until I commenced to use Foley's Kidney Cure. After taking three bottles I was entirely relieved and cured. I prescribe it now daily in my practice and heartily recommend its use to all physicians for such troubles. I have prescribed it in hundreds of cases with perfect success." C. M. Parrish.

USED FOR PNEUMONIA.

DR. C. J. BISHOP of Agnew, Mich., says, "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case." Refuse Substitutes C. M. Parrish.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by J. W. DARROW, Press Correspondent New York State Grange

F. A. DERTHICK.

Master Ohio State Grange and a Student Under Garfield.

F. A. Derthick, the subject of this sketch, is master of the state grange of Ohio and was elected a member of the national grange executive committee at its last meeting. He is a graduate of Hiram college of Ohio and was a pupil of President James A. Garfield. He is a trustee of the college, and his elegant home is situated on Derthick hill, overlooking the college buildings. His wife and five children are graduates of the same institution. Mr. Derthick is one of the prosperous farmers of the Buckeye State who find time between planting and harvesting and harvesting and planting to devote considerable time to the agitation of those reforms which the grange believes will work to the betterment of the farmers as a class. He resides at Mentor. He has a reputation as an orator and a writer, as well as a student of scientific farming. He has been connected for a number of years with the state agricultural department in the capacity of lecturer at farmers' institutes and in this manner has attained a wide reputation in his own state as a leader in advanced ideas on technical farming. He has also studied the social and educational problems of the rural communities. He is one of the strong members of the state and national grange.

F. A. DERTHICK.

TENT WORMS.

A Legal Warfare to Be Waged on These Pests by the Grange.

Dutchess county (N. Y.) Patrons are going to deal with the tent worms legally. All the granges in that county are to be asked to indorse the following act, which will be presented to the next state legislature for its approval and enactment into law:

An act for the destruction of tent worms and their nests or tents within the county of Dutchess.

Commissioners of highways in each town within the county of Dutchess shall at such time or times in each year as may be necessary destroy tent worms with their nests or tents in the trees on the public highways in their respective towns, and they may purchase all torches, implements or materials necessary and proper for such purpose, the cost of which, with the compensation of the highway commissioners at the rate of $2 per day each for the time spent on said work, shall be a town charge. The owner or occupant of all lands within the county of Dutchess at such time or times in each year as may be necessary and when the presence of such tent worms in the trees upon his land become apparent shall destroy the same with their nests or tents.

A Center of Communication.

The Patrons of the Order in Pennsylvania have a sort of clearing house for surplus produce, which is in charge of Mr. S. B. Day of Washington, Pa. He styles it a "center of communication."

Patrons in any part of the state can write to the manager of the central bureau and give him the quantity of surplus products which they have for sale in their section. The central bureau, being in communication with all sections of the state, is enabled to inform such parties where there may be a shortage of like articles and place them in communication with parties desiring the things which they have to sell. In other words, this bureau puts the producers and the consumers in communication with each other and they then transact their own business with one another.

There are numerous ways in which such a central bureau can be of service to Patrons of the Order and it seems to be a most excellent idea.

Grange Literature.

The printed page is doing good work for the grange these days. Not only are the newspapers devoting much more space than formerly to the grange, but the state grange organizations, through the masters, lecturers and secretaries, are preparing and disseminating grange information by circulars, pamphlets and bulletins more widely than ever. This is well. The Order will feel the beneficial effects thereof in increased membership and in a better understanding of its principles and of what it is accomplishing for the farmers of the country. So far as our observation extends, the Michigan state grange leads its sister organizations in the effective use of grange literature.

National Lecturer's Topics.

The topics announced by National Lecturer Bachelder for September to December, inclusive, are the following:

September.—What farm crops are the most profitable in this locality?

October.—What influence has home life upon the young in the formation of character?

November.—What influence has the grange in the formation of character?

December.—What should be the relation of the grange and church?

In the printed records of Boston in the Public library the birth of Ralph Waldo "Emmerson" is entered.

GIGANTIC ELECTRIC SCHEME.

Towns from Williamsport Down to Have Power from the River.

A gigantic scheme to bridle the Susquehanna and to centralize the generating power of the electric light systems from Shamokin to Williamsport is being launched by the West Branch Electric Company, incorporated under the lawe of New Jersey, with a capital stock of $3,000,000, and fathered by men with immense resources.

While the scheme is gigantic in its proportions, yet it is claimed to be thoroughly practicable by those interested. At Sunburg a central electric light plant will be erected and its power will be supplied by the Susquehanna river.

The new company has secured option on more than twenty electric light plants and systems, including the two Shamokin companies. This week decides whether or not the project will be carried through as options on five of the companies expire.

If the scheme is carried to a successful issue, the cost of electric lights will be materially decreased, as the cost of producing the current will be lessened by about 80 per cent, on account of the power to produce costing absolutely nothing.

In the the scheme wealthy men from all towns to be effected are interested.

Light and power will be distributed to Sunbury, Northumberland, Lewisburg, Milton, Watsontown and all towns along the river to Williamsport.

Farmers Puzzled by Blight.

Many of the productions of the farm have this season been blighted, many crops that gave promise of an abundant yield turning to naught. Farmers through sections of Clinton and Centre counties, are working hard to save as much as possible, In Black Hole valley, on the farm of Hervy Smith, was a nine acre field of corn planted the first week of May. It bore every evidence of thrift but the blight struck it and it became necessary to cut it before it was fully matured and ripened. This, however, is only one case of many. Everywhere potatoes of remarkable growth are being thrown out, fit for nothing, and probably permeating the soil they touch with germs that will work the same destruction next year. Advice for measures to follow in combatting the blight has been sought from the professors at our agricultural schools, resulting in no other information than to spray several times with bordeaux mixture, but when it is taken into consideration that potatoes, tomatoes, corn, and cabbage and even oak trees are attacked, the cure appears to be beyond possibility,

Campaign for Missions.

A campaign in behalf of foreign missions began in Huntingdon presbytery on Friday last at the eastern end of the Presbytery, and will continue for about twelve days. The program, which is now in the hands of pastors, clerks of sessions, Sunday school superintendents and others, was prepared by the committee on foreign missions of the presbytery, with the advice and co-operation of Gen. James A. Beaver, of Bellefonte. The speakers who addressed these meetings were Rev. David McConaughey, of the board of foreign missions, Gen. James A. Beaver, Dr. Ira Harris and Rev. F. G. Coan, the two latter being missionaries of experience in foreign lands. This campaign is made possible by the liberality of John H. Converse, and the ideas emphasized are those of the Second Great Forward Movement, i. e., the formation of living links between the home and foreign fields and systematic giving on the part of church members.

Rev. David McConaughey spoke in the main auditorium of the First Presbyterian church of Tyrone at 7:45 o'clock Tuesday evening. He is an interesting speaker, and those who heard him were not only well entertained but benefited.

—Railroads throughout the country are waging war against the use of intoxicating liquors and tobacco by their employes who are engaged in operating the lines. The flat has gone forth generally that employes who drink or frequent places where liquors are sold are not safe to intrust with the lives of patrons or with the valuable property transported by the railroaders. The rules which have recently been inaugurated against the use of tobacco are not so stringent as those against liquor, but generally they proscribe tobacco while on duty and when about stations. As for the cigarette, the order against it is almost as severe as that against whiskey. The rule is being strictly enforced.

WARM RECEPTION.

MESSENGER KILLED ROBBER

Unfortunately the Same Bullet Struck and Seriously Wounded the Engineer of the Train.

ONE MAN PLACED UNDER ARREST

Portland, Ore., September 25.—The Atlantic express on the Oregon Railroad and Navigation line which left here at 8.15 o'clock Wednesday night, was held up by four masked men an hour later near Corbett station, twenty-one miles east of this city. One of the robbers was shot and killed by Express Messenger Fred Korner, and Engineer Ollie Barrett was seriously wounded by the same bullet that hit the robber. After the shooting the robbers fled without securing any booty.

Two of the highwaymen boarded the train at Troutdale, a station eighteen miles east of here, and after the train had got under way they crawled over the tender and covering the engineer and fireman with revolvers told them to stop at mile post, twenty-one, which is near Corbett Station. When the train slowed down two more men appeared. Two of the robbers compelled the engineer to get out of the cab and accompany them to the express car while the others watched the fireman.

The men carried several sticks of dynamite and when they came to the baggage car, thinking it was the express car, threw a stick at the door. Express Messenger Korner heard the exolosion and immediately secured his rifle and opened fire. The bullet pierced the heart of one of the robbers, went through his body and entered the left breast of Engineer Barrett, who was just behind him. Barrett's wound is above the heart and is not necessarily fatal. After the shooting the other three robbers fled without securing any booty.

Sheriff Story and four deputy sheriffs left on a special train for the scene of the robbery at 12.45. Shortly after the express train bearing the sheriff's posse arrived at the scene of the attempted hold up. One of the outlaws was found a short distance up the track badly wounded from a charge of buckshot which he had received in the head. He was placed on board the sheriff's special train, which was turned around and headed for Portland. The bandit said his name is Jim Connors and his home is in Portland, but refuses to make known the names of any of the other bandits or the direction in which they went,

The Portland police state that no bad character is known to them under that name and that until the detectives see him they cannot state whether he is known under any other name.

J. P. O'Laughlin Weds Miss Murray.

James P. O'Laughlin, a well known attorney, formerly of Lock Haven, and who was Congressman A. C. Hopkins' private secretary, was married at Clearfield Wednesday to Miss Elizabeth daughter of Thomas H. Murray, Esq. The wedding was largely attended.

The wedding, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, was a quiet one, only the immediate members of the two families being present. The bride was attended by her two sisters, Miss Belle Holt and Helen, and the groom by his brother, John O'Laughlin. The ceremony was followed by a large reception which included a great many people from Clearfield and other places. The groom is a popular young man, and the bride belongs to one of the oldest families in that county.

—William Schofield, who some years ago conducted a harness making business in Tyrone, but more recently maintained a similar establishment in Altoona, has determined to discontinue his business in the Mountain City and remove to Bellefonte, where he will form a partnership with his uncle James Schofield of this place in the same business. The change will occur next week. We welcome Mr. Schofield and hope his carreer in our midst may be a prosperous one.

—The new ribbon factory at Carlisle will open this week. For the past week workmen have been busy getting the looms and other machinery in order. The first loom was put up Thursday and the rest will be up in a few days. If the factory proves a success, the main factory, which is located at Patterson, N. J., will be moved to Carlisle. It is probably that only five or six persons will start work at first, but if successful new hands will be taken on from time to time.

—According to an exchange, the man who went out to milk and sat down on a boulder in the middle of the pasture and waited for the cow to back up, was a brother to the man who wouldn't advertise, because he reasoned that the purchasing public would back up to his place of business when they wanted something.

—The missionary leaders of the Methodist Episcopal church have announced a great missionary convention to be held in the Academy of music, at Philadelphia, October 11 to 13. The convention is to be a delegated body, its clientele being drawn from New England and Middle Atlantic states. An attendance of more than 2,500 is anticipated.

—At a revival meeting in a nearby town a man arose and said he was the wickedest man in the town. "I'd go to perdition if I should die to-night," he concluded. Immediately an old deacon started the hymn, "If you get there before I do, just tell them I am coming too." And then the deacon wondered why everybody laughed.

—The state board of charities at its quarterly meeting Wednesday of last week adopted the plans of Philip H. Johnston of Philadelphia, for the new state homeopathic insane hospital near Allentown. The building will accomodate 1,000 patients and will be one of the most complete institutions of its kind in the country. The last legislature appropriated $300,000 for the building.

The house has been quarantined, and all precautions taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

Davidson, who is now located at Wilmore, Cambria county will come here. Rev. Perks pastorate here has been a very successful one, and in that time a new parsonage has been built and extensive repairs made to the church. His many friends here will regret his departure but will wish him Godspeed in his new field of usefulness.

—Two boys by the names of Meyer and Bing were arrested on Monday by Constable McKinley of Milesburg for fast driving. Meyer is from around Bellefonte and Bing from Unionville. Would it not be a good idea for some of our constables to do like wise in Bellefonte?

—The game season is fast approaching and from all indications there will be plenty of birds this year. The heavy rains have killed many young rabbits during the summer. The middle of October will mark the opening of the hunting period, and many local nimrods will then take to the woods.

—The annual reunion of the Forty-ninth regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers, will be held at Lewistown, October 29 30 Lieutenant James B. Eichelberger, Sylvester Weber and Capt. T. B. —A man by the name of Nesbit from Bakerton was one of the jurors drawn to serve at Ebensburg last week. The smallpox also claimed his attention unknown to the court, and despite his physician's orders he succeeded in escaping and reached the county seat in time for the opening of the court. But he was ordered to leave and did so with as little delay as possible.

—Some women pride themselves upon their good bread, others upon their delicate cakes and still others upon their light flaky pastry. The Centre County Fair to be held next week, October 6th 9th, offers cash premiums for the best of each of these, and no doubt there will be a determined effort upon the part of a number of our women to gain the distinction of being the best cook in Centre County.

—A reporter for the REPUBLICAN had occasion to walk out East Logan street Tuesday afternoon and was surprised at the awful condition of that thoroughfare. The gutters are grown up with weeds and all the waste water from the different houses stands in the gutters or runs over the street a menace to the health of the residents. Several of the boardwalks are in a frightful condition and some of these days the town will have a suit for damages on its hands. Can't the Street committee or Board of Health take some action in the matter?

AN ATTEMPTED SHOOTING.

A Drunken Italian Shoots at David Rothrock of Buffalo Run Valley.

On Sunday afternoon the usual quiet and peaceful Buffalo Run Valley was stirred from centre to circumference by a dastardly attempt upon the life of one of its substantial citizens, David Rothrock.

Mr. Rothrock resides on a comfortable little farm along the public road leading to State College and on Sunday afternoon was at home alone, his family being away at church. During the afternoon an Italian who is employed at the Centre County Lime quarry near Hastings came to the door and demanded admittance. He was evidently under the influence of liquor and Mr. Rothrock refused to let him in. Without a word of warning he drew his revolver and fired at Mr. Rothrock, the bullet just missing the latter's head by a few inches.

Mr. Rothrock closed the door and sent word to Sheriff Taylor who went to the scene and placed the Italian under arrest and he now reposes behind prison bars.

Jake's Colors are Hauled Down.

Sometime ago a man from Pittsburg arrived in our town and announced himself the champion checker player of Allegheny county, he stopped at Haag Hotel and began to look for victims. Unfortunately for Jake, N. H. Sloan, shipping clerk of Potter and Hoy Hardware Co., consented to play him a few games. Mr. Sloan is no checker player, nevertheless, he won two games out of three and Whitewashed the posing champion.

Jake was not satisfied with this humiliating defeat but began to look for another victim, and he found him on last Wednesday evening when he entered a contest with a gentleman by the name of Pearce from Philadelphia. The contestants played 17 games which resulted as follows: Jake won 1 Pearce won 15, and one game resulted in a draw.

To his sorrow, Jake has discovered his mistake. He was not the champion of Allegheny county but his name is associated with the other end of the record, and he is now ready to go "way back and sit down."
